

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a medical or anatomical description, located on the neck and upper chest area of the drawing. The text is partially obscured by the drawing's lines and the texture of the material.

